Designed by Stefano Bigi

Almost with the features of a sculpture is NX, the table that overcomes the fixedness and the linearity of its most classic shape through a dynamic play of volumes with a bursting energy. The innovative and central element of this table is the body in massive wood, that outlines with an airy and slight line the two letters giving it its name. N and X thus give live to a dynamic profile that recalls that of a falling star or of an arrow: a bearing structure with a strong evocative power, in which a "next" can be read, from which NX takes its nature of futurism and overcoming of the established canon."
